

Asset Allocation does not guarantee a profit or protect against a loss in a declining market. It is a method used to help manage investment risk.